Participants meet on the last Friday of each month from 11:00 a.m.—12:30 p.m. There is no December meeting. The monthly book discussion serves as a platform to educate and enhance knowledge about social justice, awareness, and inclusion. Participants have selected books to read each month and will engage in conversations designed to develop their own understanding of these issues. The goal is to create a more inclusive campus environment, promote meaningful professional relationships and encourage faculty and staff to explore issues of equity and injustice.
