IMPACT REPORT 2018

EVERY GIFT BUILDS OUR COMMUNITY

Pensacola State College's story began at the Aiken House, a boarding house at the corner of Palafox and Cervantes Streets, where classes were held between 1948-1953. Shortly after, the Pensacola State College Foundation was formed to accept community donations.

KEITH HOSKINS

Pensacola State College Campaign Chair – VP of Navy Federal Credit Union/Head of Pensacola Operations

Leading efforts to fund initiatives at PSC, Keith Hoskins volunteers on the Foundation Board of Governors. Below, Keith shares his perspective on his involvement in this work.

“In today’s world it is a powerful thing to know that every gift is a donor’s contribution to a new chapter in the story of a student’s life. These gifts and chapters create a storyline that chronicles the journey a family and community can make together when transformation is made possible through generosity. In an ever changing world, I am proud to work with those who are inspired by the legacy created through their investment in education.”

HISTORY

In 1947, Pensacola State College became the first public junior college to be established under new Florida law. As the college grew, recognition and support from the community also grew, and the Pensacola State College Foundation was incorporated in 1965 as a non-profit corporation that could accept tax-deductible contributions from community supporters.

During the next three decades, the Pensacola State College Foundation helped the college expand its campus, through the addition of many new buildings, as well as additional campus locations.

Donations from alumni and friends of Pensacola State College make the difference — making dreams a reality for many students. The Foundation’s investment strategy provides a maximum return on contributions at a minimum risk. The Foundation ensures professional management and monitoring of contributions to support specific programs at Pensacola State College and to observe the donor’s wishes. We ensure that 100 percent of every contribution is dedicated to the purpose intended.

Today, more than ever, the Pensacola State College Foundation is an integral part of the College.

I am beyond thrilled to come to work each day and know that we have made a difference in the lives of over 110,000 PSC graduates since 1948. More importantly, I am delighted that I can continue that legacy of giving of my monetary gifts and resources to even more students. Each PSC student has his or her own story and reason for achieving an education. Please help us in continuing to assist these very worthy students on their journey through life. Every gift definitely has its own story! – Sheila Nichols, Executive Director of Marketing & Communications, PSC

Inspiring the Next Generation

THE CHADBOURNE FOUNDATION ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP

The Chadbourne family's desire to see students succeed is evident in the "two + two" scholarship arrangement they crafted with PSC and UWF. Students who receive a Chadbourne scholarship at PSC and graduate in good standing are given priority for a Chadbourne scholarship when they enter UWF.

This commitment to meeting local needs is characteristic of the Chadbourne Family Foundation. It is part of the reason that Edward M. Chadbourne shared his family's philosophy that a portion of the profits from the family business be allocated to the family Foundation. As he explained, "We've always felt that this community has been good to us and we wanted to give something back."

Multiple Escambia and Santa Rosa County residents have benefitted from the Chadbourne family's generosity that supported them while they were enrolled in A.A., A.S, Vocational, Technical, BAS or BSN programs at Pensacola State.

MIKE JOHNSTON

Director, Institutional Research

"I want to invest in the movers and the shakers of the world! I give to our students because I remember what it was like to be in their shoes; having to choose between paying my portion of the power bill and buying a textbook was never easy. Luck was not what got me to where I am today; the resolve and the support of others while I was in school allowed me to move mountains I never imagined. One day, I hope some of our students look back and remember that some stranger invested in them and I believe they will do the same when they are ready and able."

DEBBIE DOUMA

Dean of Federal Grants and Programs

"I like the ability to designate where I want my donation to go. I played basketball in high school, so I want to support our athletes – and the same is true for visual arts and performing arts students. I make everyone in my office go to at least 1 graduation a year. I want them to see why we do what we do here in this office. I'm also a big proponent of the technical programs here. So many people tend to look down upon certain degrees, but those are our degrees that are so vital. I hope to give students the ability to accomplish what they'd like to do, but be able to also provide for them and their families so they don't have to struggle by taking out student loans."

For 70 Years, the Community has Invested in Success

Whether an Anna Society Member, Athletic Booster or a Friend of the Culinary or Performing Arts, members of PSC's affinity groups have been key characters in our story. Members are donors who choose to support activities about which they are passionate. They are a constant thread that binds the storyline that winds through the lives of the 109,000 PSC graduates. Affinity group membership is a win-win as membership provides benefits to donors whose financial support enhances programs and student experiences.

Pensacola State plays an important role in the community, because it provides avenues for all types of students, with widely varying interests and life goals, to find their career paths. — Helen Ihns, Anna Society Founding Member and Friend of the Culinary Arts

BILL CLOVER MEMORIAL AUCTION

In life, Bill Clover was a true humanitarian. The beloved Pensacola State professor died in May but his legacy will endure. To honor his generous spirit, PSC has established the Bill Clover Memorial Endowment. Funds for the endowment came from The Clover Memorial Auction, which featured much of the donated art collection of the late Carl Duke - the former head of the PSC visual arts department who hired Clover in 1966. About 140 pieces, which also included a number of Clover's signature mugs and bowls, as well as donations from the Visual Art's Faculty, were sold at the October fundraiser and helped generate $22,016 for the endowment.

I support the Anna Society. I am particularly thrilled with the new gallery space at the Anna Lamar Switzer Center. The better the facilities are, the more students will want to study at Pensacola State. — Cookie Kichler

VISUAL ARTS/ANNA SOCIETY

The Anna Lamar Switzer Center for Visual Arts is located on Pensacola State College's Pensacola campus. The center is supported by the Anna Society – a group of patrons who are passionate about arts education and cultural enrichment. The society advocates for and provides foundational dollars to the Anna Lamar Switzer Center, enriching our community at large. Members of the Anna Society make a difference to Pensacola State by contributing their time, talents and treasures in support of the cultural heritage and artistic future of Northwest Florida.

In 2018:

It's an honor to chair the Annual Day of Clays event for Pensacola State College. It's important to me that the proceeds are used to support programs and scholarships for those students who otherwise wouldn't be able to afford to go and who want to improve themselves. In addition, the financial impact that Pensacola State College has on our region is significant and the continued workforce development is essential for development of our regional economy.

Ribbon Cutting for Charles W. Lamar Studio

As founders of Lamar Advertising Company, members of the Lamar family, Reilly family, and Switzer family passionately believe in the impact that arts education has in building great colleges and bettering communities. In 1998, the Lamar, Reilly and Switzer families made a generous $1 million gift to Pensacola State for the enhancement of the College's Visual Arts Program. The gift led to the opening of the Anna Lamar Switzer Center for Visual Arts. In August 2014, the Lamar, Reilly, and Switzer families committed an additional $1 million to complete the Visual Arts facility with the addition of the Charles W. Lamar Studio, named in honor of the family patriarch. Since their initial investment in 1998, the Lamar, Reilly, and Switzer families have provided gifts resulting in more than $4 million to the College. The Lamar, Reilly, and Switzer families have a long tradition of not only contributing significant resources to Pensacola State, but to the Pensacola community as well.

Construction of New STEM Building is Underway

Construction has started on the East Wing of Pensacola State College's new STEM building. The facility will replace the Mary Ellison Baars Building, and will eventually include a West Wing and second-floor connector.

The $13 million East Wing will be home to the cybersecurity and mathematics programs. The 25,389-square-foot wing also will house math tutorial labs and office space. The first phase is projected to be in use by May 2020.

The West Wing and second-floor connector will be 46,133 square feet and is projected to cost $21 million.

Ajax Building Corp is the general contractor. Florida Architects designed the facility.

Pensacola State College is a natural choice for Synovus to partner with in our joint vision of leaving this community better than we found it. At Synovus we trust the people at Pensacola State College to do two things. Treating folks right and doing the right thing. They are the kind of organization we seek to invest our charitable dollars in. PSC is making a difference in our community and we want to be a part of it.

As a student in PSC's Nursing (RN) program, I am committed to quality care for patients. The more hours I can apply to my studies, clinicals, and attending conferences, the better the nursing care I will provide for people in our community moving forward. Scholarships helped relieve my financial concerns during this semester so I could continue to strive for excellence in the profession of nursing. Thank you for your support. — Donald Yeo
