Emphasizing a conceptual understanding of physics, the course integrates critical thinking skills and real-world applications.

Class Meeting Time: Online (asynchronous)

Class Location: Canvas

Semester Hours: 3 credit hours

Semester Offered: Fall, Spring, Summer

Course Designations: College Transfer. Meets AA General Education Core, Natural Sciences (Physical Sciences) requirement.

General Education Core Course Standard: Per Florida Statute 1007.25, "Natural science courses must afford students the ability to critically examine and evaluate the principles of the scientific method, model construction, and use the scientific method to explain natural experiences and phenomena."

Required Textbooks and Instructional Materials: Physics of Everyday Phenomena; Juliet Brosing and W. Thomas Griffith; 9781264121267; 10th; McGraw Hill; 2022

Methods of Evaluation: At minimum, the instructor will cover content which aligns with statewide and institutional learning outcomes for the course. The instructor will measure student performance using the following:

7. Assistance with meeting course objectives during and beyond class hours;
8. Evaluation of student performance and appropriate and timely feedback; and
9. Clear and well-organized instruction.

Course Learning Outcomes:

1. Prepare students for the successful completion of PHY1053, General Physics I.
2. Discuss the methods of scientific thinking and analysis.
3. Use analytical reasoning in solving problems in physics.
4. Define and apply basic concepts and terminology in physics.
5. Apply graphical solutions and mathematical models to the solution of physical problems.

General Education Student Learning Outcomes:

Critical Thinking: The student analyzes, evaluates, and, if necessary, challenges the validity of ideas, principles, or data in order to develop informed opinions, probable predictions, or defensible conclusions.

Scientific and Mathematical Literacy: The student properly identifies and applies scientific or mathematical principles and methods.

Information Literacy: The student effectively locates, evaluates, and applies information from a variety of sources.
