General Education Student Learning Outcomes	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Critical Thinking: The student analyzes, evaluates, and, if necessary, challenges the validity of ideas, principles, or data in order to develop informed opinions, probable predictions, or defensible conclusions. 2. Communication: The student effectively communicates knowledge and ideas. 3. Cultural Literacy: Demonstrate an understanding of human culture.
General Education Writing Emphasis Course Requirements	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. All writing used to fulfill the writing emphasis requirement must possess the five characteristics of college-level writing: 1) have a clearly identified central idea or thesis; 2) provide adequate support for the idea; 3) be organized clearly and logically; 4) show awareness of the conventions of standard written English; and 5) be formatted in an appropriate fashion for the assignment. 2. A minimum of four (4) evaluated assignments, which may include the final exam, is required. Because an extensive amount of writing is intended by Rule 6A-10.030, F.A.C., additional writing assignments may be used to satisfy this requirement. 3. The grades earned on the writing assignments must reflect student performance in college-level writing and significantly impact the final course grade. 4. All sections of the course must meet all requirements. 5. Instructors provide detailed feedback regarding the content, organization, and use of standard written English for all writing used to satisfy the requirement. 6. Instructors return each evaluated writing assignment to a student before the submission of the next evaluated writing assignment, with the exception of a final exam used to satisfy the requirement. 7. Only individual, original student work counts toward the extensive writing requirement; AI or machine-written content is not accepted. 8. The grading rubrics used for each writing assignment will be shared with students and will be uniformly applied as the assessment instrument in all sections of a course.

Writing Assignment – Psychological Disorders What IS a psychological disorder? Not even the American Psychological Association (APA) can agree to a definition that fits all of the disorders currently recognized within the DSM-V. Ultimately, the notion of disorderly thoughts and behaviors is inherently subjective. What one person may consider disorderly is perfectly normal, or even preferential, to another. Despite this, the psychologists tasked by the APA to determine what pattern of thoughts and behaviors will be recognized and treated as disorderly often use one set of criteria: deviance, dysfunction, distress, and danger. Select one of the APA-recognized disorders covered by your textbook and analyze if and how it meets the four criteria. Your analysis should be based on the thoughts and behaviors specific to your chosen disorder. If your disorder doesn't meet all of the 4 D's, why do you believe it is still considered a psychological disorder?			5%

Select three psychological phenomena/theories (e.g. general adaptation syndrome, actor-observer bias, etc.) discussed in your textbook that you found most impactful for you and your life, and detail how you have/could use what you learned regarding these topics to enhance your life.			5%
